2. Conferences, Calls & Announcements

If you have a call or announcement relevant to the history of media studies, please contact us.

1. John C. Burnham Early Career Award

- The Forum for History of Human Science (FHHS) and the Journal of the History of the Behavioral Science (JHBS) encourage researchers in their early careers to submit unpublished manuscripts for the annual John C. Burnham Early Career Award, named in honor of this prominent historian of the human sciences and past-editor of JHBS. The publisher provides the author of the paper an honorarium of US $500 at the time the manuscript is accepted for publication by JHBS.
- Deadline: 15 June 2022

2. FHHS Dissertation Prize

- The Forum for History of Human Science awards a biennial prize of US $250 for the best recent doctoral dissertation on some aspect of the history of the human sciences. The competition takes place during even-numbered years. The winner of the prize is announced at the annual History of Science Society meeting. Entries are encouraged from authors in any discipline, as long as the work is related to the history of the human sciences, broadly construed. To be eligible, the dissertation must be in English and have been formally filed within the three years previous to the year of the award. A dissertation may be submitted more than once, as long as it meets the submission requirements.

3. CFP: 50th Anniversary Tribute to Dallas Smythe in China

- The aim of this special issue of the Chinese Journal of Communication (CJC) is to bring forth Dallas Smythe's intellectual legacy so as to link critical inquiry of the unfolding contestations with social struggles of the 20th century. While critical scholars often evoke Smythe's concept of audience commodity and his treatment of "work" when examining immaterial labour and the new modes of exploitation in digital capitalism, Smythe has much more to offer. His critique of the "dependency road" and his consistent support for national sovereignties to extend democratic participation in development and governance, exemplifies the kind of critical praxis aimed at contesting global power structures. After all, one should remember that Smythe blazed a path of challenging Cold War-enforced sinological orientalism and engaging China's self-proclaimed socialist theories and practices of development.

- Deadline: 31 August 2022

4. CFP: Power and Knowledge from the 18th Century to Today

- Dating back to the beginnings of Greek democracy and the Platonic conception of the philosopher king, the relations between power and knowledge have recently come back to the fore with the rise of populism or the sanitary crisis. With an interdisciplinary approach, the conference will welcome proposals dealing with the relations between knowledge and power from the 18th century to today: papers can address the history of political and/or economic ideas, intellectual, cultural and political history or political science and sociology. In-person presentations, in English or in French, will be encouraged but arrangements for remote delivery may be made. A selected number of papers may be published.
- Deadline: 24 June 2022

3. The Journal

History of Media Studies*, the new open access journal affiliated with this newsletter, recently published 16 essays, authored by members of the Editorial Board, to mark the journal's formal launch. This section of the newsletter will highlight the journal's special section calls, newly published articles, and other updates. *

1. OACIP Funding Secured for Five Years: History of Media Studies was one of three journals included in the second round of LYRASIS's Open Access Community Investment Program (OACIP), designed to connect no-fee ("diamond") journals with libraries and other funders. With a recent investment from the Big Ten Academic Alliance, History of Media Studies has met our pledge goal of $12,500 per year for five years. Among other things, the consistent funding will help support our commitment to challenging the hegemony of English in the historiography of media studies.

4. New Publications
